HOLIDAY TRAVEL

Holiday travelers who try to get a head start on the competition might be falling into a holiday travel trap. According to statistics, those traveling between 50 and 99 miles travel more on Thursday than Wednesday and return more on Saturday than Sunday. The day of return is especially interesting, as many holiday travelers feel they're avoiding traffic by leaving a day early, though statistics suggest otherwise. What's more, long-distance travelers during the Christmas/New Year's period might consider going overseas, which is the road far less traveled come the holiday season. During that time period, 97 percent of long-distance travel is domestic, which will no doubt lead to longer lines at check-in and at the security checkpoints.

WATCH YOUR GAS MILEAGE

Keeping under the speed limit will help you burn less gas and increase your miles per gallon. Your gas mileage will be better if you avoid sudden starts and stops. You should also avoid revving your engine. Not only is this more energy efficient, but it is also safer for you and the drivers around you.

GET ENOUGH SLEEP

Recent studies show that there may be a link between poor sleep and weight gain. If you have sleep shortfalls, you experience an increase in hunger hormones that could lead you to overeat during the day. Fatigue also makes you less likely to get enough exercise. Both adults and children can be affected by poor sleep. Practicing healthy sleep habits can have a good effect on overall health.

STAY SAFE OVER THE HOLIDAYS

We want all our residents to have a safe and joyful holiday season. With that in mind please follow these simple precautions to avoid holiday fire hazards. Be sure to check your lights for defects before stringing them. Defective lights can cause a spark. Don't forget to unplug all electric decorations before leaving your home or going to bed. If you are displaying a freshly cut Christmas tree, water it daily to keep it from drying out. Dry trees are extremely flammable. Thank you for putting safety first, and happy holidays!
